to the Hense Towns; $3,234,748 to Holland and her dependencies; $1,495,754 to Belgium; $54,624,652 to Great Britain and her colonies; $12,951,669 to France and her colonies; $7,144,018 to Spain and her colonies; $1,433,103 to Trieste and other Austrian ports; $1,327,891 to Italy; $2,113,567 to Brazil; $1,247,360 to Chili; and $2,079,341 to China. Russia, Prussia, Denmark and her colonies, Italy, Mexico, Venezuela, and Africa, generally, each received between $500,000 and $1,000,000. The total domestic exports are comprised under the following heads:—The sea $4,507,124; the forest $6,550,421; animal products $6,206,391; vegetable food $8,810,508; tobacco $7,469,819; cotton $51,739,643; other agricultural products $183,496; manufactures $5,504,977; articles not enumerated $2,927,562.

The exports from the United States for the same time of foreign production were $15,346,630—of which $11,459,319 were in American and $3,887,311 in foreign vessels. Of the whole $10,175,099 were admitted here free of duty, $2,107,292 with ad valorem, and $3,061,439 with specific duties. Of the whole $6,419,688 went to Great Britain and her colonies, and $3,122,325 to France, &c. Russia, Denmark, Holland, Belgium, Spain and her colonies, Italy, Sicily, Austria, Texas, Mexico, Venezuela, Brazil, Argentina, Republic, Chili, China and Asia generally, each received amounts from $100,000 to $500,000. The Hense Towns received $838,093.

Clearances from the United States and Enclaves therefor for the year ending June 30, 1845.—8197 American vessels, with a total of 2,053,977 tons, and crews of 100,794 men and 2463 boys; and 5553 foreign vessels, with a total of 930,275 tons, and crews of 54,657 men and 720 boys—cleared from the ports of the United States during the year 1844-45.

American vessels. 8133, with a total of 2,035,489 tons, and crews of 99,020 men and 2562 boys; and 5590 foreign vessels, with a total of 910,563 tons, and crews of 53,315 men and 700 boys, entered the ports of the United States during the above time.—Boston Post.

VALUE OF THE GRASSES.

The product of our grass land is not only far beyond that of any other crop in the United States, but is probably greater than all other crops combined, as they are taken from the field. This is not true in portions of the South, where cotton, rice, sugar or other leading articles are cultivated; nor with such as are in the neighborhood of large markets, where fruits and vegetables are in steady demand, at high prices. But throughout the States generally, we do not doubt that the aggregate of the production of grass is far beyond that of all other raw products combined. It must be remembered that grain and rice, after harvesting, must be threshed and cleaned at an expense of several cents per bushel; cotton must be carefully picked and cleaned, and then baled; sugar and tobacco must be manufactured before they are ready for market; all of which expenses should first be deducted before placing them on a par with grass, which is always marketable in the field, either by the animals which consume it, or as hay. If we consider further, that nearly every one of the other products is raised by long-continued, expensive, laborious efforts, both of man and beast, we largely enhance the comparative value of the grasses, as they are thus secured in their value and importance at a much cheaper rate than other productions. Another and highly important advantage they possess over other crops is, they but slightly impoverish the soil in any instance, while in many they tend to its fertilization. But all other crops exhaust it to a greater or less degree. If these propositions be true, it behooves the farmer to look well after his grass lands. If properly prepared and managed they are a mine of wealth to him; while, with the generality of farmers, they are neglected or worse, he will secure nothing for his purse, if he even succeeds in providing himself and family with the necessities of life.

With too many of the farmers, grass lands are either totally neglected, or they receive just enough of attention to rescue them from absolute abandonment. Some farmers never sow an ounce of grass seed on their land; but after first clearing off the original growth of wood, or taking off a crop of grain, they heedlessly abandon it to the growth of such herbage as may spring up from the chance seed of former years' accumulation in the soil; and as this is pretty equally made up of the seeds of grass and weeds, the latter usually usurp their full share of the soil, till such time as the former has the power of assuming that predominance which a kind Providence has given to the useful over the useless or prejudicial produce of nature.

Grass-lands, whether intended for meadow or pasture, ought to be prepared with the same caution as fields of grain or vegetables. They should be finely, evenly and smoothly plowed and harrowed; they should be in high condition as to fertility; all the furrows should be carefully smoothed down and leveled, if leached, or as carefully cleaned out and kept open for thorough surface draining, if they consist of stiff clay. Those should be well chosen for plumpness and weight, and entire freedom from any improper mixture, and lastly, it should be evenly and most liberally sown with one or as many varieties of grass or clover, as is best suited to the soil, or the object proposed. If, from unforeseen causes, as drought or winter killing, or imperfection of seed, any spots should prove bare or imperfectly seeded, the first proper time should be taken for re-seeding it. Cattle should be carefully excluded till the grass has acquired a fine soil, and in the spring, and sufficiently early in the autumn, to prevent any poaching, by which unsightly holes are made for standing water and to the total exclusion of all growth of grass. If the herbage at any time becomes thin or deficient, or mosses or weeds encroach upon the useful growth, guano, ashes, plaster, lime, stable manure, peat, or muck composts should be added to remedy the first and the usual appliances resorted to from removing the last. Thus sown, grazed by choice breeds of stock, and well looked after, the farmers generally will find their most profitable returns from grass lands.—American Agriculturist.

FAYETTEVILLE MARKET—May 2d.

Very little produce offering, except cotton, which we quote at 7 1/2 and 7 3/4. The arrival of the Great Western advances of 1/2, slight advance, but not enough to justify any change here. Corn 8 1/2 to 8 3/4. Large sales of Bacon at 8 1/2 to 9. Lard 9 to 10. Flour remains $4.50 to $5.00. No other change to notice.—Carolinian.

CHARLESTON MARKET—May 2d.

Rough Rice.—The receipts of the week, near 1,600 bushels, have gone to the mills. About 1600 bushels were reported to us as having been sold at the mills to close a shipment at $1.08. Grain.—The imports of Corn, during the past week, have again been heavy, reaching the aggregate amount of 34,000 bushels; near 12,000 bushels consisted of Western in sacks, partly ordered for the interior and forwarded accordingly, and partly sold at from 75 a 76 cts. per bushel, sacks included. The North Carolina brought from 71 a 75 cts., it requiring however a strictly prime white article to command the latter price.

Peas.—About 4000 bushels received from North Carolina, are going into store for higher prices.

No arrivals of Oats.

Bacon and Lard.—Both articles remain without change in prices. For the former there is a pretty fair demand for the retail trade. The stock being but moderate, holders make out to realize our quotations for a good article. A lot of near 300 sides was landed from Baltimore yesterday, 300 of which we understood to have been sold at 6 1/2 cts. Sides 25 lbs. Western Lard made at 7 1/2 cts. Salt.—About 1500 sacks Liverpool, the balance of a cargo, and the last parcel about, sold at $1.02 cts.

NEW YORK MARKET—April 30.

Turpentine. Wilmington, soft, $3 50 a 4 00 do Newbern, " 3 50 a 4 00 Spirits Turpentine. 50 a 55 Tar. 1 75 a 1 87 1/2 Rice, per cwt. 4 00 a 4 50 Naval Stores.—Turpentine remains (as for a long time past) without inquiry, and our quotation must be considered entirely nominal, as there appears to be no buyers in the market at any price, no sellers so low as quoted. The stock has received no accession of consequence for some time past, and will not, until the new crop comes forward. Spirits Turpentine is lower, sales being now made in lots 50 cts. cash, and 53 a 54 1/2 mos., according to quality and condition. A small sale, we understand, was made at a lower price, but under circumstances, which render it no criterion of the market. There have been sales of 1000 bbls. North County Tar for export, at about $1.75; 1000 do. Georgetown, on private terms; and 1500 bbls. North County Rosin, about, at 60 cts., delivered.

Rice.—The market has been dull for some time past, and since the arrival of the Caledonia there has been very little inquiry for export the advice by the Great Western still tend to depression, and since our last but about 200 cts. have been taken for home use at $4.12 1/2 a $4.25, cash.

BOSTON MARKET—April 30.

Naval Stores.—The market is dull for all kinds and prices have a downward tendency. We notice sales of Spirits Turpentine at 60 a 62; Tar at $2 a $2.12 for North County and Wilmington; common Rosin at 70c; and Pitch at 90c a $1 per bbl 6 mos.

Rice.—There have been further sales, for export and to the trade, at 4 1/2 a 4 3/4 per lb. 4 and 6 mos.

BALTIMORE MARKET—May 2.

City Mills Flour.—Some sales took place early in the week, on terms not permitted to transpire. Holders ask $4 50, but we have heard of no sales, and it could probably be bought for less. Sales.—The sales of Md. white up to yesterday were generally made at 60 a 62c. and to-day we quote this description at 60 a 61c. Md. yellow was selling to Wednesday inclusive, at 60c for good parcels, but to-day we quote at 61 a 62 1/2.

WILMINGTON MARKET—May 7.

NAVAL STORES.—As we anticipated in our last Thursday's report, a further reduction has taken place in the article of Naval Stores. The supply is small and sales are slow. The difficulty in making sales is owing to the fact that there is but very little demand for Spirits, either in the Northern or European markets. At present there is no fixed rates for the raw material in this market. We, however, from the best information we can obtain on the subject, quote Yellow Dip at $1.80, Virgin at $2.30, and Hard at 90 cts. This seems to be the mark this morning, with little offering. In Rosin and Spirits we can hear of no transactions. Tar—500 barrels was sold a few days since at $1 per bbl., at which we quote to-day. There has also been sales of a few small lots at the above price, and in some instances a trifle more has been obtained.

LUMBER & TIMBER.—Sales at $4 50, $5 and $5 50, for Mill Timber, and sales of Flooring boards have been made at $10 and $11 50; wide boards at $6, $6 1/2 and $6 3/4, and Scantling at $6—market well supplied and sales dull.

SHINGLES.—This article has advanced still higher since last report, we quote for sales made this week, for a prime quality, as high as $3. The rise, however, is thought to be only temporary.

BACON.—The supply is ample, and prices remain firm.

MEAL.—Is somewhat in demand, and sells at 90c. per bushel.

CORN.—Has been scarce, and selling at 75 a 80 cents from store freely. About 4000 bushels have arrived, prices unsettled and quotations nominal.

MOLASSES.—Sales in lots at 21c.

SALT.—A cargo of 6000 bushels has arrived, 1500 of which, we understand, sold at 30c. We quote Liverpool Salt at $1 12 1/2 a $1 15.

LIQUORS. Whiskey has arrived freely—a lot direct from New Orleans was offered at auction—sale stopped at 24 1/2, and balance stored. Apple Brandy—quotations nominal.

SUGAR.—No arrivals. Sales dull at quotations.

COFFEE.—One lot Rio, we understand sold at 7 1/2 cts, which is rather below market price. Lots are held at 8c, at which but few sales are, however, made.

The last week, like others, has been very dull in the way of sales.

SACK SALT.—Daily expected per schooner H Price, 250 Sacks Salt. For sale by E. J. LUTTERLOH.

WANTED TO CHARTER.—A vessel of 14 to 1800 tons capacity, out to New Orleans and back to New York. Apply to M. & E. J. LUTTERLOH.

AM currently expecting, per schooner North Carolina and Julia.
